Dear Anne,

Thank you for presenting "scary" children's literature to the MAT students enrolled in LAE 6427: Children's Literature: Teaching Literary Appreciation and Literacy Instruction. The students were completely engaged in the discussion and you led them to see unique aspects of children's literature which they had not previously considered. Thank you for sharing so many excellent examples of children's literature and helping the students make connections between "abjection," children's texts, and the students' own experiences with fear. Your analysis of the sample text was flawless and so carefully shared with the students. Everything you prepared and shared was so well done.

Thank you,

Jenifer
